

BECKWITH THINKS MRS. CHADWICK SHOULD BE ARRESTED TOO.

Pathetic Statement Made Today by Oberlin Banker.

Receiver Lyons is to Call Upon Andrew Carnegie Today.

BECKWITH TELLS OF TRANSACTIONS WITH MRS. CHADWICK AT BANK.

Notes Indorsed for Over a Million Dollars--Carnegie Says He Never Saw the Woman--Confession of Mr. Beckwith Before the District Attorney.

Oberlin, O., Dec. 6.—"If anybody on earth should be arrested, it is Mrs. Chadwick," declared President C. T. Beckwith, this morning. "Evidently she has committed the crime of forgery."

The aged, broken man was in a state bordering on nervous collapse. He is today in much worse condition than he has been at any time since the close of the doors of the bank. Tears were in his eyes and his voice was choked with grief.

"Why should I be persecuted for the wrongs that were brought on by that woman? Why did I do it, why did I?"

"I believed that the signatures were genuine. She told me they were and so did the lawyer who said that he represented Mr. Carnegie. Others came here with her and they said that the notes were good for all that she would borrow up to their face value. I thought that she was telling me the truth. It's too late now, too late."

Beckwith was admitted to bed last night. It was furnished by J. G. W. Cowles and A. Gilchrist, two Cleveland friends. He returned to his home here broken hearted. This morning he reiterated his confession of his dealings with Mrs. Chadwick. He said, with tears in his eyes: "That woman swore to me and me that the signature of Andrew Carnegie, which appears on the notes, was genuine. There were three of these notes. Two were for $500,000 each, and another for $250,000. She said that she had seen Mr. Carnegie place his signature on the notes and to confirm this she brought a man with her representing himself as a New York attorney. He said that he was retained by Mr. Carnegie and that he knew of his own knowledge that the signatures were genuine."

It is true that we indorsed all of the notes, but we had no idea that they were to be used for the purpose they were.

"Iri Reynolds of the Wade Park bank, told us that he had the securities that Mrs. Chadwick claimed he had, and that these securities were in a safety deposit vault at the Cleveland institution."

"Once I went to New York with the notes signed 'Andrew Carnegie,' expecting to raise enough money on them to clear all accounts at our bank. When I arrived there my heart failed me. I did not attempt to negotiate any loan on them but returned to Oberlin hoping that a settlement would be made by the woman. This is the result."

"I am a broken, dishonored old man. Had I only known all that I now know when the woman first came to me I could have been saved from this terrible disgrace. It is now too late. All is lost."

MR. CARNEGIE

Again Denied Today That He Has Any Knowledge of the Chadwick Affair.

New York, Dec. 6.—Andrew Carnegie today reiterated again that he had no knowledge of any of the Chadwick affairs. It is believed that the object of the visit of Receiver Lyons is to place the notes taken from the Oberlin bank before Mr. Carnegie.

DOCTOR SAYS

That Mrs. Chadwick's Physical Condition is Improved—Receiver Lyons Today in New York.

New York, Dec. 6.—Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick, spent an uneventful night at the Holland. She sent for papers this morning and before she had breakfasted she had read the account of the finding of the forged notes in the Oberlin bank. There were rumors about the Holland House that an arrest might take place in this city today. One report had it that a New York lawyer connected with the Chadwick case might also be arrested today.

The arrival here from Cleveland of Robert Lyons, receiver of the Oberlin bank, was anticipated this morning and it was said that he would be an early caller at the Fifth avenue mansion of Andrew Carnegie, and that his mission would be to lay before Mr. Carnegie the $250,000 and $500,000 notes. In the event of Mr. Carnegie formally pronouncing the signatures forgeries it is expected that the receiver will apply for a criminal proceeding in this city. Philip Carpenter, counsel for Mrs. Chadwick, arranged for an early interview with her today. Dr. A. Moore paid a call to the Holland House this morning. He said later that Mrs. Chadwick's physical condition was somewhat improved.

Receiver Lyons came here from Cleveland, accompanied by Attorney Oldham. He bore the Carnegie notes found in the Oberlin bank.

Percy L. Carver, counsel for Herbert L. Newton, of Brookline, Mass., who has claims for about $200,000 against Mrs. Chadwick, gave out the following interview this morning:

"I will attend a conference of persons interested in the Chadwick matter today, and later will probably have a definite statement of some sort. I still believe, despite all that is being said about Mrs. Chadwick being unable to pay, that the Newton claim will be satisfied."

"Why do you think so?"
"Because I saw certain notes."
"Do you say these notes bore the signature of Andrew Carnegie?"

"No, I do not say that," replied Carver quickly, and drew away from the interview, remarking, "Isn't this a wonderful case?"

Philip Carpenter, of counsel for Mrs. Chadwick, arrived at the Holland today, and went immediately to Mrs. Chadwick's apartments.

"I came here this morning," said Mr. Carpenter, "to consult with my client. I want to say this morning that I don't care to talk any more about this case until later in the day. I will then probably have a statement to make."

CONFERENCE

Held in New York Today by Parties Interested in the Chadwick Case.

New York, Dec. 6.—There was a series of interesting conferences here today relative to the Chadwick case. They were participated in by Banker Ira Reynolds of Cleveland, Attorney Andrew Squire of Cleveland, representing Reynolds, and formerly counsel for Mrs. Chadwick. Receiver Lyons of the Oberlin bank, Attorney F. G. Johnson of Blyria, representing depositors in the Oberlin bank, and Attorney Oldham, Lyons' legal adviser. After the conference Squire called on Mrs. Chadwick. Reynolds is the man who attested to holding $500,000 worth of securities belonging to Mrs. Chadwick, and on which she borrowed much money.

Several conferences were today held by lawyers representing Mrs. Chadwick and Banker Newton.

Cleveland, Dec. 6.—President C. T. Beckwith of the failed Citizens' National bank of Oberlin, O., has made a confession regarding the bank's transactions with Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick. The statement was made in United States District Attorney Sullivan's office, Mr. Beckwith saying: "I am either an awful dupe or a terrible fool. I guess there is no doubt about my being a fool. I know I have done wrong, and although crushed to the earth myself, I do not propose to be made a scapegoat to shield the sins of others. Further concealment of the truth can not help any one. The truth is that others also must be called to the bar to answer for their part in this terrible affair, and one of those whose answer must be had is Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick." The Oberlin banker spoke in broken sentences and tears were streaming from his eyes. His acquaintance with Mrs. Chadwick began three years ago. The attorneys for Herbert D. Newton, the Brookline (Mass.) banker, have stated that their client loaned Mrs. Chadwick money only after a note signed "Andrew Carnegie" had been indorsed by the president and cashier of a national bank. The men who indorsed the note were President Beckwith and Cashier Spear of the Citizens' National bank, Oberlin, O.

Relating to this matter Banker Beckwith continued his story of the bank's transactions with Mrs. Chadwick as follows: "Yes, we indorsed the note in addition to one other note for $500,000, but O God, never for the purpose for which they were used."

"Do you mean to say that there are two $500,000 notes in addition to the note for $250,000?" was asked Mr. Beckwith.

Two Half-Million Dollar Notes.
"Yes, notes aggregating $1,250,000. One of them is in the hands of the receiver and the other ought to be in the hands of Mrs. Chadwick. If she has disposed of it she has done something which she swore she would not do; so please make it plain that a solemn oath was taken that the notes which bear our indorsement were never to be used by Mrs. Chadwick for the purpose of raising money, and she knew it."

Columbus, O., Dec. 6.—Charles A. Jackson, the new collector of customs, at Sandusky, can keep the $600 salary drawn before he resigned as state senator, representing his compensation for next year. The supreme court today refused to allow Zurborn, the deposed collector, to file a revenue petition to compel the governor to declare a vacancy in the 31st senatorial district.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—President Roosevelt's message was read today in both branches of Congress. The main features of the document follow:

The enlargement of scope of the functions of the national government required by our development as a nation involves, of course, increase of expense, and the period of prosperity through which the country is passing justifies expenditures for permanent improvements far greater than would be wise in hard times, but abundant revenues and a large surplus always invite extravagance, and constant care should be taken to guard against unnecessary increase of the ordinary expenses of government.

Capital and Labor.
The relations of capital and labor, and especially of organized capital and organized labor, to each other and to the public at large come second in importance only to the intimate questions of family life. Our peculiar form of government, with its sharp division of authority between the nation and the several states, has been on the whole far more advantageous to our development than a more strongly centralized government. But it is undoubtedly responsible for much of the difficulty of meeting with adequate legislation the new problems presented by the total change in industrial conditions on this continent during the last half century. In actual practice it has proved exceedingly difficult, and in many cases impossible, to get unanimity of wise action among the various states on these subjects. From the very nature of the case this is especially true of the laws affecting the employment of capital in huge masses.

With regard to labor, the problem is no less important, but it is simpler. As long as the states retain the primary control of the police power the circumstances must be altogether extreme which require interference by the federal authorities, whether in the way of safeguarding the rights of labor or in the way of seeing that wrong is not done by unruly persons who shield themselves behind the name of labor. If there is resistance to the federal courts, interference with the mails or interstate commerce or molestation of federal property, or if the state authorities in some crisis which they are unable to face call for help, then the federal government may interfere; but, though such interference may be caused by a condition of things arising out of trouble connected with some question of labor, the interference itself simply takes the form of restoring order without regard to the questions which have caused the breach of order. In the District of Columbia and in the territories the federal law covers the entire field of government. But the labor question is only acute in populous centers of commerce, manufactures or mining. Nevertheless both in the enactment and in the enforcement of law the federal government within its restricted sphere should set an example to the state governments, especially in a matter so vital as this affecting labor.

Entire Right to Organize.
Wageworkers have an entire right to organize and by all peaceful and honorable means to endeavor to persuade their fellows to join with them in organizations. They have a legal right, which, according to circumstances, may or may not be a moral right, to refuse to work in company with men who decline to join their organizations. They have under no circumstances the right to commit violence upon those, whether capitalists or wageworkers, who refuse to support their organizations or who side with those with whom they are at odds, for mob rule is intolerable in any form.

The wageworkers are peculiarly entitled to the protection and the encouragement of the law. Whenever the national government has power there should be a stringent employer's liability law, which should apply to the government itself where the government is an employer of labor.

Prevention of Railroad Accidents.
The ever increasing casualty list upon our railroads is a matter of grave public concern and urgently calls for action by the congress. The passage of a law requiring the adoption of a block signal system has been proposed to the congress. I earnestly concur in that recommendation and would also point out to the congress the urgent need of legislation in the interest of the public

BIG FORCE OF THE MIKADO'S MEN WIPED OUT

Fifteen Hundred Reported to Have Been Killed.

ENGAGEMENT BELOW MUKDEN

In Which Japanese Attempted to Retake Lone Tree Hill—Firing at Port Arthur.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 6.—A sanguine report was today received by the Czar from General Sakharoff. It contradicts that any engagements occurred Sunday, thus contradicting the unofficial report that General Rennenkampf on that day gained a signal victory over the Japanese force which had been sent to turn the Russian flank. Sakharoff adds that the condition of the soldiers is splendid.

Tokyo, Dec. 6.—A moderate estimate places the Russian losses during the recent attacks on 203 Metre Hill at 2,000. Opinion prevails that completion of the defense works on the hill will be followed by the beginning of a general assault upon the approaches to Golden Hill and other forts.

Mukden, Dec. 6.—The force of Japanese sent to turn General Rennenkampf's flank has been repulsed with heavy loss, according to reports reaching here. It is stated that General Rennenkampf, who knew the movement was maturing, awaited the Japanese at the mouth of one of the captured passes, and that the Japanese turning force threw themselves unsuspectingly into the ambuscade, where, after the fight, the Russians collected 500 corpses. It is added that there are 1,000 more Japanese corpses which it has been impossible to collect owing to the fire of the Japanese. This does not include the Japanese loss in wounded. The Russian loss, according to this account, was only 30 or 40 men.

Skirmishes continue. The night of Nov. 30 Captain Alexandroff with 30 men routed a force of 50 Japanese by a surprise attack on the trenches. The same night volunteers under Lieutenant Vedetska surrounded and wiped out a picket of 25 Japanese near Tougou. This led to a hand-to-hand fight in the Japanese underground trenches, where 20 more Japanese were bayoneted. The Russians lost severely in this fight, a number being caught in wire entanglements. Altogether 10 Russians were killed and 14 wounded.

Dec. 3 the Japanese began an artillery fire on Poutloff (Lone Tree) hill, paving the way for an infantry attack. The Russian artillery answered vigorously for several hours and then slackened. The Japanese, imagining the Russian fire had been silenced, flung themselves in masses against the trenches, where they were allowed to come within close range and then were met with withering volleys and a countercharge with the bayonet. The Japanese fled, having sustained enormous losses.

A Cossack expedition which was sent the night of Dec. 2 to capture a Japanese battery on the Russian right flank was only partially successful. The Cossacks wiped out the Japanese sentries, killed the gunners and got possession of the battery, but were unable to remove the guns owing to the rapid arrival of Japanese reinforcements.

BENJ. FRANKLIN DEAD.

President of the Peoples National Bank and for Many Years Prominently Identified With Newark's Business Interests Called After a Short Illness.

Mr. Benjamin Franklin, one of the most wealthy and influential citizens in Newark, died at his home 192 Hudson avenue, at 7:30 o'clock, Tuesday morning.

Mr. Franklin was seized with an acute attack of indigestion on Saturday night, November 17, and has since been in bed, but no idea of a fatal illness was entertained by the family until Monday when he had two sinking spells. He responded to treatment, but it was heroic, nitroglycerine being administered to keep up the heart's action.

The deceased was aged 68 years and was born in Utica, N. Y. He came to Newark with his father's family when he was a youth. He leaves one brother, George F. Franklin, who is now living at the point of death at his home 141 Hudson avenue, and two sisters, Misses Olivia and Elizabeth, who reside at 214 Hudson avenue.

These are of the deceased's collateral family, but there is a widow and three daughters who survive. The daughters are Mrs. H. H. Griggs of Cleveland, Mrs. H. P. Scott and Mrs. Channing M. Thompson of this city.

Mr. Franklin was for forty years a vestryman in the Trinity Episcopal church, and for nine years was senior warden. He was also prominently identified with the Y. M. C. A. and just before his last illness had offered a most liberal subscription to Secretary Ebersole. He was also a member of the board of hospital trustees, and the interests of this institution were at all times dear to his heart.

The funeral will probably take place Friday morning, but due notice will be given.

The history of Benjamin Franklin's life in Newark is synonymous with the development of the city's banking interests.

No city in the United States has more substantial financial institutions today than Newark, and no one in the city has been for years more prominently identified with these interests than was the deceased.

He was of English parentage and had an intensive knowledge of banking and financial affairs. This knowledge was not only intensive but was inherited as his father, Edward Franklin, organized the Franklin Bank, one of the city's most successful financial institutions.

institutions in 1855. He associated with himself his two sons, John and Benjamin, and conducted a thriving business. After Edward's death the business went into the hands of John and Benjamin, who conducted it under the firm name of Edward Franklin's Sons. Soon afterward they took in the late Joseph Rider, as a partner, and the name of the bank was changed to Edward Franklin's Sons & Joseph Rider. The firm continued a successful business until 1876, when it was purchased by D. C. Winegarner, the late Willis Robbins, the late L. B. Wines, and W. A. Robbins.

In June, 1884, John and Benjamin Franklin were the prime movers in the organization of the Peoples National bank, of which concern the deceased was always a director. He never held an office, however, until four years ago, when he was elected president, to which position he has been re-elected annually.

In 1894 the Franklin Bank company was organized, but Mr. Benjamin Franklin had no financial interests there. He was, however, always known in Newark as a banker and every institution in the city, of this nature, consulted him as to policies to be pursued in the course of business.

Mr. Franklin was a man of absolute integrity and was in the true nature of the term, a philanthropist. He embodied the teachings of Jesus Christ when he rebuked the Pharisees with the expression:

"Take heed that ye do not your alms before men, to be seen of them * * * but when thou doest thine alms do not sound a trumpet before thee as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory of men, but let thy right hand know what thy right hand doeth."

Many a family in Newark has been beneficiaries of Mr. Franklin's bounty, and today there are many tears being shed, on account of the deep sense of personal loss experienced by those who knew they have lost a friend and benefactor.

The injunction of the Master, his Master and guide, was followed to the letter, and many people in Newark will never know the benefactions of Benjamin Franklin.

Now that he is no more there are hundreds of Newark citizens who will rise up and call him blessed.

GREEK LIFE

Literature and History Studied by the Members of the Travelers' Club at Granville.

Granville O., Dec. 6.—The Travelers' club held its regular meeting in the parlors of the Baptist church on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The program was of unusual interest and entertainment, consisting of information concerning Greek life, literature and history. The most interesting feature of the afternoon was the paper on "The Iphigenia of Euripides," read by Mrs. Charles Rose. This well known character is one of the most famous and admirable of all those that ever appeared in the Greek drama, and the paper had been very carefully prepared, and was exceedingly interesting and instructive. During the reading of this paper, Miss Lina Willis, dressed artistically in Grecian robes, to represent the typical Greek maiden, was introduced, and read extracts from the play itself. Miss Willis, who well informed scholars and students of the Greek art have agreed possesses almost perfect Grecian features, was chosen to typify this type of maidenhood, and all in attendance at the meeting were delighted with her strikingly statuesque and Grecian appearance on this occasion. A background arranged to represent a Greek stage setting, was also provided. The other papers were "The Second Persian Invasion" by Mrs. Ail, and "The Battle of Thermopylae," by Miss Mary Wilson.

Be as careful as he will, however, a man past middle age will occasionally eat too much or of some article of food not suited to his constitution, and will need a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets to cleanse and invigorate his stomach and regulate his liver and bowels. When this is done there is no reason why the average man should not live to old age. For sale by all druggists.

his control, he guarantees to the public the little green stamp that the whiskey in the bottle bearing it is pure and free from adulteration, of one hundred per cent. proof, and not less than four years old.

THE GOVERNMENT STAMP FROM:
1st. The date of distillation.
2nd. The name of the distiller.
3rd. The number of the distillery.
4th. The state and district where it is located.
5th. The proof of the whiskey.
6th. The quantity in the bottle.
7th. The date it was bottled.

ONE OF THE EARLIEST SETTLERS.

Edgewood is one of the oldest brands as well as the best whiskey made in the State of Kentucky. The grain used is carefully culled. The water is furnished by the Old Elm Tree Spring, a bubbling fountain of cold, clear water that rises on the thirst of Daniel Boone and his companions in the early days of Kentucky.

AN OLD-FASHIONED SOUR MASH.

The distilling is done according to the old-fashioned Sour Mash process, the fermentation lasting ninety-six hours, and when the whiskey comes from the still, it is drawn off into barrels that have previously been charred on the inside in order that as it matures, the charcoal may purify it by absorption of any deleterious qualities. This charred lining to the barrel also gives to Edgewood its beautiful amber color.

WAREHOUSE HEATED BY STEAM.

Edgewood whiskey is cared for like a rare flower or plant, and watched at every stage of its development. The warehouses are kept at summer heat all through the winter months. They are dry and clean. The fresh air is continuously circulated through them by a complete fan system, in order that the last vestige of impurities thrown off through the pores of the barrel may be taken up and carried away. The child of a found parent receives no better attention or more watchful care than Edgewood whiskey. That is why it is the best whiskey made and why it is pure and wholesome. It is the kind of a stimulant you would give to your family in case of sickness, confident that it is free from any injurious elements and is perfect as the most solicited care can make it.

HONORED AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Owing to its purity and excellent quality, Edgewood was selected as an example of a whiskey free from adulteration, and as such is now on display in the National Pure Food Exhibit, at the St. Louis World's Fair.

The Bottled-in-Bond Act was passed by Congress and allows distillers to bottle, under Government supervision, straight whiskey in bond not less than four years old. The United States Government prints the stamps and affixes them to the bottle, and thus guarantees that you get a pure, straight whiskey at least four years old, and one hundred proof.

Ask your dealer for "Edgewood"—Bottled in Bond, and ascertain that the stamp is intact. If your dealer doesn't keep it, write us and we will see that you are supplied.

POSITIVE PROOF

Because it's the evidence of a Newark citizen.
Testimony easily investigated.
The strongest endorsement of merit.
The best of proof. Read it:
Bernhart Alsop, of Granville, O., says: "After suffering for years with my back and kidneys Doan's Kidney Pills was the first remedy to help me. At times there was a continual aching and spells of sharp pain often attacked me in the loins. On the recommendation of Mr. Crayton, the Newark druggist, I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and found that remedy went right to the cause of the trouble at once. The pains and weakness gradually disappeared until they had entirely vanished. None of these symptoms has returned since I used Doan's Kidney Pills."

I have also been a great sufferer from constipation. I tried a couple of doses of Doan's Regulators, and finding them to be just what I needed I went and got a box. They are the best remedy of the kind on the market. If you are suffering from constipation or any trouble with the bowels give Doan's Regulators a trial. They will end your troubles at once."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Why and How the Government Guarantees the Age and Purity

OF EDGEWOOD BOTTLED IN BOND.

Congress Comes to the Rescue of Consumers Who Want a Really Pure, Good, Old Whiskey.

It is a notorious fact that the consumption of crude spirits, masquerading as whiskey, is injurious to health.

Doctors frequently recommend whiskey taken in moderation as a wholesome beverage, medicinally valuable; but what they intend to prescribe is, of course, a pure, well-matured whiskey and not a more or less injurious imitation of the genuine article.

DOESN'T SEEM FAIR.
United States Internal Revenue Collector Bernard Bettmann, in an interview published in a recent issue of the Cincinnati TIMES-STAR said:

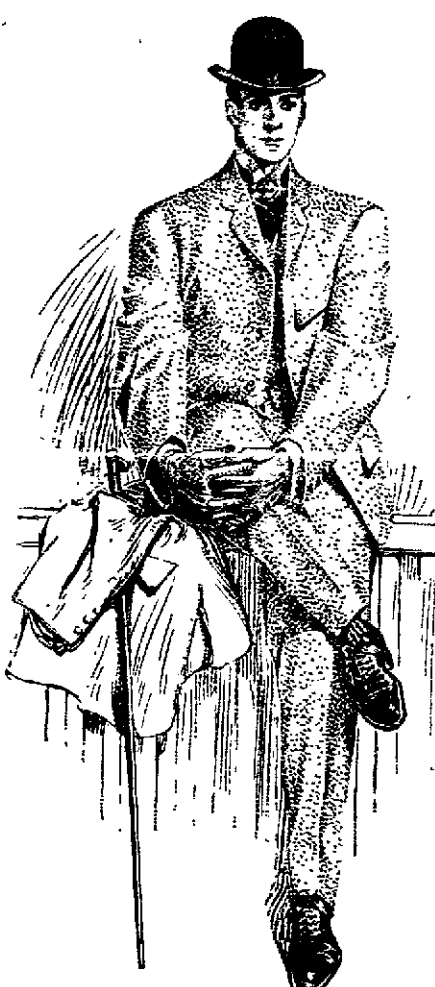

"There are distillers who make good whiskey and who are proud of the natural method, waiting for the time to come when the result it does not seem fair that the goods of this man should be brought into competition with those of a roofer who takes the law into his own hands and from the still, colors and flavors his own brand and bottles the stuff in pure areas beyond labels, when guarantee the contents to be genuine they sell it as whiskey when it may not really be a whiskey, and not whiskey at all."

THE GOVERNMENT LAW.
Now is the time to distinguish the good from the bad, you know.
Don't you know you can buy an absolutely straight, pure, unadulterated whiskey and get a guarantee from the United States Government to that effect? It is a fact.

"EDGEWOOD" IS THE BRAND.
Each State does not put a stamp of approval on many products, but whiskey bottled in bond under the supervision of his United States storekeeper bears over the cork a little green stamp, which is printed in the United States Bureau of Printing and Engraving. This greenback and gold certificate is made. "Edgewood" bears this stamp.

The Government protects you against counterfeit mummy, and counterfeit whiskey in the same manner.
"Edgewood" is genuine whiskey. From the time the grain is weighed by the Government store

CLEANLY WOMAN.

Erroneously Thinks by Scouring Her Scalp That She Cures Dandruff. Cleanly woman has an erroneous idea that by scouring the scalp, which removes the dandruff scales, she is curing the dandruff. She may wash her scalp every day, and yet have dandruff her life long, accompanied by falling hair. The only way in the world to cure dandruff is to kill the dandruff germ, and there is no hair preparation that will do that but Newbro's Herp

Mayor Crilly's Suggestion.

The Advocate desires to call special attention to the happy suggestion of Mayor A. J. Crilly in his report to the City Council on Monday evening on the water works proposition.

Inasmuch as the Council has pending before it a proposition from the water company and a motion to appoint an appraiser to act for the city in determining the value of the company's property, the Mayor has suggested the appointment of the following citizens to act upon the appraisers' report: Messrs. A. H. Heisey, W. W. Wehrle, J. J. D. McNamara, George B. Sprague and E. L. Welschberger. These men who are among the foremost citizens of Newark, all heavy taxpayers, are men well qualified to pass upon the merits of such a business proposition.

The Mayor suggests that this special committee of reputable business men shall examine the report of the appraisers and shall report to the council what in their opinion is best to do. They shall decide what the water company's property is worth and recommend to the council whether to buy the present water plant or to reject the proposition.

These men will be actuated only by the best motives. They will be fair to the water company and just to the city. Their good business sense will tell whether it will be a good business proposition to buy the plant of the Newark water company or to build a new one.

The Mayor, in our opinion, has made a timely suggestion—one that should be approved by the Council. Undoubtedly it will be endorsed by the people of Newark.

Let the appraisers determine the value of the Newark Water works; let this citizens' committee look into the matter and decide whether the price agreed upon is right. If it is, let the council buy the plant; if the price is too high and is found to be so by the citizens' committee, let the council reject the proposition and build an entirely new water system.

It is a fair proposition—fair to the city and to the water company. Mayor Crilly has hit the nail squarely upon its head.

Mr. Hurst Ran Ahead of His Ticket.

The official figures of the vote in this Congressional district have been received from the Secretary of State, and they show that Hon. J. E. Hurst, the Democratic candidate for Congress, ran ahead of his ticket in the district to the extent of 436 votes. The following figures show the vote by counties and the total pluralities for Roosevelt and Smither:

Roosevelt's plurality:—
Coshocton 206
Licking 779
Tuscarawas 2224
Wayne 583
3792
Holmes—Parker's plurality 1080
Roosevelt's plurality in district 2712
Smither's plurality:—
Coshocton 109
Licking 648
Tuscarawas 1667
Wayne 935
3359
Holmes—Hurst's plurality 1083

Smither's plurality in district 2276
Mr. Hurst ran ahead of his ticket in every county in the district except Wayne.

When it is considered that vast sums of money were poured into the district in behalf of M. L. Smither and that J. E. Hurst, with no financial assistance whatever, had very limited means of his own for a campaign fund, the result is decidedly a personal triumph for the Democratic candidate.

THE RAILWAYS

THE B. & O. TO ESTABLISH NEW DEPARTMENTS.

Will Form Press, Voucher and Statistical Bureaus—Pennsy's Good Showing—Personals.

A circular from the office of President O. G. Murray, of the B. & O. railroad, announces the establishment of three new bureaus, which are expected to prove of value in the departments of work which they will handle. These will be the press, statistical and voucher bureaus, under the supervision of George M. Shriver, assistant to the president. By bringing the work of these bureaus close to his own office, President Murray will be kept informed as to what is accomplished by them, and will also have the information which they will be expected to collect convenient to his reach at all times.

J. H. Madly, heretofore known as special agent to the B. & O., has been appointed press agent, and will have charge of the press bureau. His work as special agent has been practically that of a press agent, but the new office will be that in name as well as fact. The function of the press bureau will be the dissemination of all news matter deemed desirable for publication, and the heads of all departments of the road are requested to aid the press agent in securing this information. Telegraphic reports of all accidents and occurrences of importance are to be forwarded to the bureau, in order that a correct account of these may be available. This bureau will have nothing to do with the advertising.

Mr. Wild has been appointed head of the statistical bureau, which will receive from the various departments all statistical statements as issued for general use or in any department. Changes or additions to statistical statements, as well as new forms of statements will also be reported to the president's assistant.

The duty of the voucher department of which James S. Murray is to be the head, will be to keep a record of all vouchers. These will be sent to the bureau after they have been made, received and approved by the heads of departments. From the voucher department they will be turned over to the auditor.

Panhandle's Good Record.
General Superintendent Ralph Peters of the Panhandle at Columbus has sent letters of congratulation to the superintendents of the divisions which without loss of life or limb handled the enormous traffic to St. Louis during the world's fair. He also thanked them for their co-operation in making every detail of the special service a success. The Panhandle made an enviable record during the past summer, not only in regard to the revenue secured, but in the methods employed in handling the traffic. The road was more successful in every way than during the exposition at Chicago in 1893.

Tried to Beat the B. & O.
The old game of buying a short distance railroad ticket for a longer distance ride was tried yesterday afternoon, when a stylish young woman boarded the train at Butler on the B. & O. railroad and gave the conductor a ticket for Belleville. When this point was passed the conductor, coming around after tickets asked her for the remainder of her fare, and she hotly replied that she had given him her ticket for Mansfield and would not pay. The conductor upon looking over his tickets found that he had no tickets for Mansfield, and after a rather hot conversation in which he told her that the old game of beating fares was out, she paid the fare to Mansfield, but still denied that she had any intention of beating the railroad company.—Mansfield Shield.

A LAWYER'S LETTER

Mr. E. D. McVey of Lowell, Mass., one of the best known lawyers in Middlesex county, says: "I have written a good many letters, but none more willingly than this one to express my gratitude for the benefit my family have derived from Father John's Medicine. It saved my son from a serious attack of pneumonia, and my Doctor advised me to keep it on hand all the time, as a protection against colds and throat and lung troubles. He said to take it from time to time to build up the system, and that if taken after any exposure it would prevent colds." This old prescription nourishes the body and makes strength because its ingredients are pure and wholesome and food for the blood and nerves. The absence of temporary and weakening stimulants and drugs explains why it builds up the body at the same time it cures the disease.

Nervous Prostration,

Paralysis or Locomotor Ataxia.

No diseases are more dreaded than those of the nervous system, because none lead to such complete helplessness of mind and body. You may stop a headache if you use powerful drugs, produce sleep by morphine, or whip up the action of the heart by means of stimulants, but by so doing you are merely consuming the remaining vitality at an enormous rate and physical bankruptcy must overwhelm you sooner or later. The natural and rational way to restore the wasted and exhausted nerves is by means of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills, the great nerve cure, which actually forms new, rich blood and creates new nerve force. There is no such thing as failure known when this great medicine is used, for it is composed of nature's most powerful nerve and blood vitalizers and is bound to do you good. The main thing is to be regular and patient in their use and you will not be disappointed in the results.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S Nerve Pills.

LOCOMOTOR ATAXIA.

MR. CHAS. E. LEE of No. 206 So. Pierce St., Gallion, O., says:

"I wish to state for the benefit of anyone suffering from paralysis or Locomotor Ataxia that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are a positive cure. I was wholly unable to walk or help myself in any way when I began to use the medicine. The doctors of Dayton, O., told me I would not be able to walk for months anyway, which practically meant not at all. I took three boxes of your Nerve Pills and went to work at my trade, which is hard work—that of boiler-maker. As a result I can recommend the medicine to any one, not only as a cure for Locomotor Ataxia and paralysis, but all forms of nervous disorders." You have my permission to publish this how and when you like, as I consider my cure miraculous.

In a manner new to science, they manufacture rich, red blood and re-supply the lost nerve force by a direct tonic nourishing effect on the half starved nerve centres, they successfully check all waste, make the tissues firm and hard and give a feeling of life, vigor, energy, steadiness and bouyancy, not alone to the nervous system but to the body generally.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

MRS. STELLA DOANE of No. 18 Gifford Block, Jamestown, N. Y., says:

"I desire to give you a merited—and I may add, unsolicited testimonial for your wonderful Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills, although I never quite approved of patent medicines until after I doctored with four of the best known physicians in this city for nearly a year with little or no benefit. After almost complete paralysis, my health has been completely restored by your wonderful Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. The result many consider almost a miracle. I write you this because I feel it my duty that others should learn of the real merits of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. You may use this as you wish that others may learn of my remarkable recovery by the use of your medicine alone."

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS—Signature and Portrait of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous Receipt Book Author, on each box of the genuine. For sale by dealers, 50 cents a box or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., 257 Washington Street, Buffalo, New York.

UNITED BRETHREN EAST NEWARK CHURCH

As stated in yesterday's Advocate rather briefly, the United Brethren church on Sunday celebrated its "re-opening day." The church has been completely remodeled and frescoed and the entire floor carpeted and looked beautiful with a complete harmony of color. All the services throughout the day were very well attended and special music was rendered at all services. Dr. Louis Bookwalter, president of Otterlein university, preached a magnificent sermon in the morning, and Rev. O. C. Wright of Columbus preached a beautiful and decidedly interesting sermon in the evening which almost held the large and attentive audience spell bound. It will be remembered that Rev. O. C. Wright was a former pastor of the United Brethren church in this city and it was during his pastorate that this church was built. Mr. Wright is always a welcome visitor to his old parish and his sermons are listened to with deep interest.

Rev. H. O. Bovey, of Dayton, and father of the pastor, Rev. J. G. Bovey, also assisted in the various services. The expense of the remodeling of the church amounted to $650.00 and at the services Sunday $525.00 of this amount was raised voluntarily. A deep interest in this part of the services was shown by the congregation and the amount was raised in a very short time. Mr. Bovey is to be congratulated upon the success of the re-opening day of the United Brethren church.

The Board of Education met Monday night in regular session with Messrs. Reggs, Christian, Fulton, Haight, Keckley and Keller present. President Keller in the chair.

Bills amounting to about $1000 were allowed, which included a bill for $513 for sewer at the west building; a bill for $176 for sewerage and plumbing at the new school house on North Vine street, and $150 for balance due on contract for concrete walk and grading at the North Vine street building.

Supt. J. D. Simkins reported that he had been obliged to take pupils out of the High school to serve as teachers, there not being sufficient substitutes in the city.

The supply committee was authorized to purchase additional desks that will be needed to supply the new building on Vine street and elsewhere.

On motion the board declared the holiday vacation from Friday, December 21 to Tuesday January 3.

The building committee was authorized to have the necessary plumbing done to equip the heating apparatus in the new building on North Vine street for the use of fuel gas.

Mr. Christian, the member in charge of the Central building, was authorized to purchase a bookcase for use of the principal's room.

The matter of plans for the Woodside school house was discussed in an informal way, but definite action of the board was deferred until the next meeting.

HOSPITAL

MANAGERS ASK FOR CHRISTMAS DONATIONS.

A Few Suggestions Are Made—A Report for the Month of November Follows.

The Hospital Board of Managers desires to acknowledge the generous donations on Thanksgiving day of the Altar Guild, merchants and others.

While these gifts represented quite a number of individuals, only a small part of the general public had any share in the giving.

In many cities a hospital day is observed, when everybody is expected to make a contribution of some sort to the hospital work—a work that should enlist the sympathies of all. The appeals of the management have heretofore met with a kindly response. What has been given of late, however, in supplies or money, was not been adequate to the constant needs. In view of this, it has been decided by the board to ask the citizens for a large donation at Christmas time. The request is made thus early, so that all can be thinking about it and planning for it. Any suitable supplies are always acceptable. Money never comes amiss, and especially in the case now when the funds are getting low. If any one is in doubt what to give, kindly ask the head nurse or any member of the board for information. As a sample of some of the immediate needs the ladies suggest the following list of articles.

Sheets, 4 dozen, 2x2 3-4; pillow cases, 1 dozen, 22x32 1-2; cash curtains 12 pairs, 3x38; table cloths, 2; large size nightgowns, one-half dozen; sun-gery towels, 1 bolt, cut in one-half and one yard lengths; surgery sheets, one dozen, 1 1/2x2; table covers, one-half dozen, one yard square.

The report of the Newark City Hospital for November, 1934, follows:

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Safety limiting the hours of labor for railroad employees in train service upon railroads engaged in interstate commerce and providing that only trained and experienced persons be employed in positions of responsibility connected with the operation of trains.
The safety appliance law, as amended by the act of March 2, 1903, has proved beneficial to railway employees, and in order that its provisions may be properly carried out the force of inspectors provided for by appropriation should be largely increased. This service has passed the experimental stage and should receive generous recognition by the congress.
Unionism in Government Offices.
There is no objection to employees of the government forming or belonging to unions, but the government can neither discriminate for nor discriminate against nonunion men who are in its employment or who seek to be employed under it. Moreover, it is a very grave impropriety for government employees to band themselves together for the purpose of extorting improperly high salaries from the government. Especially is this true of those within the classified service. The letter carriers, both municipal and rural, are as a whole an excellent body of public servants. They should be amply paid. But their payment must be obtained by arguing their claims fairly and honorably before the congress and not by banding together for the defeat of those congressmen who refuse to give promises which they cannot in conscience give. The administration has taken steps to prevent and punish abuses of this nature, but it will be wise for the congress to supplement this action by legislation.

Bureau of Labor.
Much can be done by the government in labor matters merely by giving publicity to certain conditions. The bureau of labor has done excellent work of this kind in many different directions. I shall shortly lay before you in a special message the full report of the investigation of the bureau of labor into the Colorado mining strike, as this is a strike in which certain very evil forces, which are more or less at work everywhere under the conditions of modern industrialism, became startlingly prominent. It is greatly to be wished that the department of commerce and labor, through the labor bureau, should compile and arrange for the congress a list of the labor laws of the various states and should be given the means to investigate and report to the congress upon the labor conditions in the manufacturing and mining regions throughout the country, both as to wages, as to hours of labor, as to the labor of women and children and as to the effect in the various labor centers of immigration from abroad. In this investigation especial attention should be paid to the conditions of child labor and child labor legislation in the several states.
Corporations.
When we come to deal with great corporations the need for the government to act directly is far greater than in the case of labor, because great corporations can become such only by engaging in interstate commerce, and interstate commerce is peculiarly the field of the general government. It is an absurdity to expect to eliminate the abuses in great corporations by state action. It is difficult to be patient with an argument that such matters should be left to the states, because more than one state pursues the policy of creating on easy terms corporations which are never operated within that state at all, but in other states whose laws they ignore. The national government alone can deal adequately with these great corporations. To try to deal with them in an intertempore, destructive or demagogic spirit would in all probability mean that nothing whatever would be accomplished, and with absolute certainty that if anything were accomplished it would be of a harmful nature. The American people need to continue to show the very qualities that they have shown—that is, moderation, good sense, the earnest desire to avoid doing any damage and yet the quiet determination to proceed, step by step, without halt and without hurry, in eliminating or at least in minimizing whatever of mischief or of evil there is to interstate commerce in the conduct of great corporations. They are acting in no spirit of hostility to wealth, either individual or corporate. They are not against the rich man. On the contrary, they are friendly alike toward rich man and toward poor man, provided only that each acts in a spirit of justice and decency toward his fellows. Great corporations are necessary, and only men of great and singular mental power can manage such corporations successfully, and such men must have great rewards. But these corporations should be managed with due regard to the interest of the public as a whole. Where this can be done under the present laws it must be done. Where these laws come short others should be enacted to supplement them.

Bureau of Corporations.
The bureau of corporations has made careful preliminary investigation of many important corporations. It will make a special report on the beef industry.
The policy of the bureau is to accomplish the purposes of its creation by co-operation, not antagonism; by making constructive legislation, not destructive prosecution; the immediate object of its inquiries; by conservative investigation of law and fact and by refusal to issue incomplete and hence necessarily inaccurate reports. Its policy being thus one of open inquiry into and not attack upon business, the bureau has been able to gain not only the confidence, but, better still, the co-operation, of men engaged in legitimate business.
The bureau offers to the congress the means of getting at the cost of production of our various great staples of commerce.

Of necessity the careful investigation of special corporations will afford the commissioner knowledge of certain business facts, the publication of which might be an improper infringement of private rights. The method of making public the results of these investigations affords, under the law, a means for the protection of private rights. The congress will have all facts except such as would give to another corporation information which would injure the legitimate business of a competitor and destroy the incentive for individual superiority and thrift.

The bureau has also made exhaustive examinations into the legal condition under which corporate business is carried on in the various states, into all judicial decisions on the subject and into the various systems of corporate taxation in use. I call special attention to the report of the chief of the bureau, and I earnestly ask that the congress carefully consider the report and recommendations of the commissioner on this subject.
The business of insurance vitally affects the great mass of the people of the United States and is national and not local in its application. It involves a multitude of transactions among the people of the different states and between American companies and foreign governments. I urge that the congress carefully consider whether the power of the bureau of corporations cannot constitutionally be extended to cover interstate transactions in insurance.

Rebates.
Above all else we must strive to keep the highways of commerce open to all on equal terms, and to do this it is necessary to put a complete stop to all rebates. Whether the shipper or the railroad is to blame makes no difference. The rebate must be stopped, the abuses of the private car and private terminal track and side track systems must be stopped, and the legislation of the Fifty-eighth congress which declares it to be unlawful for any person or corporation to offer, grant, give, solicit, accept or receive any rebate, concession or discrimination in respect of the transportation of any property in interstate or foreign commerce whereby such property shall by any device whatever be transported at a less rate than that named in the tariffs published by the carrier must be enforced. While I am of the opinion that at present it would be undesirable if it were not impracticable finally to clothe the interstate commerce commission with general authority to fix railroad rates, I do believe that as a fair security to shippers the commission should be vested with the power where a given rate has been challenged and after full hearing found to be unreasonable to decide, subject to judicial review, what shall be a reasonable rate to take its place, the ruling of the commission to take effect immediately and to obtain unless and until it is reversed by the court of review.

Steamship companies engaged in interstate commerce and protected in our coastwise trade should be held to a strict observance of the interstate commerce act.
[The president here discusses the city of Washington, making numerous recommendations looking to its better government. He asks that laws be passed preventing overcrowding in the tenement districts; for the abolition of blind alleys and the proper housing of the poor. He also recommends changes in the criminal code, and would have wife beaters corporally punished.]

Irrigation.
During the two and a half years that have elapsed since the passage of the reclamation act rapid progress has been made in the surveys and examinations of the opportunities for reclamation in the thirteen states and three territories of the arid west. Construction has already begun on the largest and most important of the irrigation works, and plans are being completed for works which will utilize the funds now available.

The forest policy of the government is just now a subject of vivid public interest throughout the west and to the people of the United States in general. The forest reserves themselves are of extreme value to the present as well as to the future welfare of all the western public land states. They powerfully affect the use and disposal of the public lands. They are of special importance because they preserve the water supply and the supply of timber for domestic purposes and so promote settlement under the reclamation act. Indeed they are essential to the welfare of every one of the great interests of the west.

I have repeatedly called attention to the confusion which exists in government forest matters because the work is scattered among three independent organizations. As I have recommended, all the forest work of the government should be concentrated in the department of agriculture, where the larger part of that work is already done. The Canyon of the Colorado should be made a national park, and the national park system should include the Yosemite and as many as possible of the groves of giant trees in California.

Pensions.
The veterans of the civil war have a claim upon the nation such as no other body of our citizens possess. The pension bureau has never in its history been managed in a more satisfactory manner than is now the case.

Consular Service.
Our consular system needs improvement. Salaries should be substituted for fees, and the proper classification, grading and transfer of consular officers should be provided. I am not prepared to say that a competitive system of examinations for appointment would work well, but by law it should be provided that consuls should be familiar, according to places for which they apply, with the French, German or Spanish language and should possess acquaintance with the resources of the United States.

It is desirable to enact a proper national quarantine law.
I call your attention to the great extravagance in printing and binding government publications and especially to the fact that altogether too many of these publications are printed.

Currency.
The attention of the congress should be especially given to the currency question and that the standing committees on the matter in the two houses charged with the duty take up the matter of our currency and see whether it is not possible to secure an agreement in the business world for bettering the system. The committees should consider the question of the retirement of the greenbacks and the problem of securing in our currency such elasticity as is consistent with safety. Every silver dollar should be made by law redeemable in gold at the option of the holder.

Merchant Marine.
I especially commend to your immediate attention the encouragement of our merchant marine by appropriate legislation.
The growing importance of the orient as a field for American exports drew from my predecessor, President McKinley, an urgent request for its special consideration by the congress.

The importance of securing proper information and data with a view to the enlargement of our trade with Asia is undiminished. Our consular representatives in China have strongly urged a place for permanent display of American products in some prominent trade center of that empire, under government control and management, as an effective means of advancing our export trade therein. I call the attention of the congress to the desirability of carrying out these suggestions.

Immigration and Naturalization.
In dealing with the questions of immigration and naturalization it is indispensable to keep certain facts ever before the minds of those who share in enacting the laws. First and foremost, let us remember that the question of being a good American has nothing whatever to do with a man's birthplace any more than it has to do with his creed. In every generation from the time this government was founded men of foreign birth have stood in the very foremost rank of good citizenship, and that not merely in one but in every field of American activity.

There is no danger of having too many immigrants of the right kind, but the citizenship of this country should not be debased. It is vital that we should keep high the standard of well being among our wage workers, and therefore we should not admit masses of men whose standards of living and whose personal customs and habits are such that they tend to lower the level of the American wage worker, and above all we should not admit any man of an unworthy type. Similarly we should take the greatest care about naturalization. Fraudulent naturalization, the naturalization of improper persons, is a curse to our government, and it is the affair of every honest voter, wherever born, to see that no fraudulent voting is allowed, that no fraud in connection with naturalization is permitted.

Revision of Naturalization Laws.
There should be a comprehensive revision of the naturalization laws. The courts having power to naturalize should be definitely named by national authority, the testimony upon which naturalization may be conferred should be definitely prescribed, publication of impending naturalization applications should be required in advance of their hearing in court, the form and wording of all certificates issued should be uniform throughout the country, and the courts should be required to make returns to the secretary of state at stated periods of all naturalizations conferred.

Not only are the laws relating to naturalization now defective, but those relating to citizenship of the United States ought also to be made the subject of scientific inquiry with a view to probable further legislation. The power of the government to protect the integrity of the elections of its own officials is inherent and has been recognized and affirmed by repeated declarations of the supreme court. There is no enemy of free government more dangerous and none so insidious as the corruption of the electorate. I recommend the enactment of a law directed against bribery and corruption in federal elections.

Delays in Criminal Prosecutions.
No subject is better worthy the attention of the congress than that portion of the report of the attorney general dealing with the long delays and the great obstruction to justice experienced in the cases of Beavers, Green and Gaynor and Benson. Were these isolated and special cases I should not call your attention to them, but the difficulties encountered as regards these men who have been indicted for criminal practices are not exceptional. They are precisely similar in kind to what occurs again and again in the case of criminals who have sufficient means to enable them to take advantage of a system of procedure which has grown up in the federal courts and which amounts in effect to making the law easy of enforcement against the man who has no money and difficult of enforcement, even to the point of sometimes securing immunity, as regards the interests of the innocent man are amply safeguarded, but the interests of the government—that is, the interests of honest administration; that is, the interests of the people—are not recognized as they should be.

[The president discusses the progress of the territories of Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico, with recommendations for changes in the present system of government of the first named. He desires to see a delegate from Alaska in congress.]

Foreign Policy.
The steady aim of this nation, as of all enlightened nations, should be to strive to bring ever nearer the day when there shall prevail throughout the world the peace of justice, but there are kinds of peace which are highly undesirable, which are in the long run as destructive as any war. The goal to set before us as a nation, the goal which should be set before all mankind, is the attainment of the peace of justice, of the peace which comes when each nation is not merely safeguarded in its own rights, but scrupulously recognizes and performs its duty toward others. Generally peace tells for righteousness, but if there is conflict between the two then our fealty is due first to the cause of righteousness. Unrighteous wars are common and unrighteous peace is rare, but both should be shunned. The right of freedom and the responsibility for the exercise of that right cannot be divorced. One of our great poets has well and finely said that freedom is not a gift that tumbles long in the hands of cowards. Neither does it tarry long in the hands of those too slothful, too dishonest or too unintelligent to exercise it. The eternal vigilance which is the price of liberty must be exercised sometimes to guard against outside foes, although, of course, far more often to guard against our own selfish or thoughtless shortcomings.
It is our duty to remember that a nation has no more right to do injustice to another nation, strong or weak, than an individual has to do injustice to another individual; that the same moral law applies in one case as in the other. But we must also remember that it is as much the duty of the nation to guard its own rights and its own interests as it is the duty of the individual so to do. Until some method is devised by which there shall be a degree of international control over offending nations it would be a wicked thing for the most civilized powers, for those with most sense of international obligations and with keenest and most generous appreciation of the difference between right and wrong, to disarm. If the great civilized nations of the present day should completely disarm, the result would mean an immediate recrudescence of barbarism in one form or another. Under any circumstances a sufficient armament would have to be kept up to serve the purposes of international cohesion and the sense of international duties and rights are far more advanced than at present a nation desirous both of securing respect for itself and of doing good to others must have a force adequate for the work which it feels is allotted to it as its part of the general world duty. Therefore it follows that a self respecting, just and farseeing nation should on the one hand endeavor by every means to aid in the development of the various movements which tend to provide substitutes for war, which tend to render nations in their actions toward one another and indeed toward their own peoples more responsive to the general sentiment of humane and civilized mankind, and, on the other hand, that it should keep prepared, while scrupulously avoiding wrongdoing itself, to repel any wrong and in exceptional cases to take action which in a more advanced stage of international relations would come under the head of the exercise of the international police.

Arbitration Treaties.
We are in every way endeavoring to help on, with cordial good will, every movement which will tend to bring us into more friendly relations with the rest of mankind. In pursuance of this policy I shall shortly lay before the senate treaties of arbitration with all powers which are willing to enter into these treaties with us. It is not possible at this period of the world's development to agree to arbitrate all matters, but there are many matters of possible difference between us and other nations which can be thus arbitrated. Furthermore, at the request of the interparliamentary union, an eminent body composed of practical statesmen from all countries, I have asked the powers to join with this government in a second Hague conference, at which it is hoped that the work already so happily begun at The Hague may be carried some steps further toward completion. This carries out the desire expressed by the first Hague conference itself.
Policy Toward Other Nations of Western Hemisphere.
It is not true that the United States feels any land hunger or entertains any projects as regards the other nations of the western hemisphere save such as are for their welfare. All that this country desires is to see the neighboring countries stable, orderly and prosperous. Any country whose people conduct themselves well can count upon our hearty friendship. If a nation shows that it knows how to act with reasonable efficiency and decency in social and political matters, if it keeps order and pays its obligations, it need fear no interference from the United States. Chronic wrongdoing or an impotence which results in a general loosening of the ties of civilized society may in America, as elsewhere, ultimately require intervention by some civilized nation, and in the western hemisphere the adherence of the United States to the Monroe doctrine may force the United States, however reluctantly, in flagrant cases of such wrongdoing or impotence, to the exercise of an international police power.
Rights of American Citizens Abroad.
It is necessary for us firmly to insist upon the rights of our own citizens abroad without regard to their creed or race; without regard to whether they were

Take Courage!

If you are naturally not as strong as your more fortunate sisters, and for this reason experience dread rather than joy at the prospect of becoming a mother, take courage and assurance from this fact: Mother's Friend is meant for you, and by its use you may pass through that glorious martyrdom which is yours by divine right with no more discomfort than that experienced by those who by nature are possibly more adapted for the role of motherhood.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

is a liniment of proven merit, and its great worth can be no better attested to than by the countless strong and healthy children who through its kindly offices have entered this world unhandicapped by any deformity or weakness. It is a liniment which by external application acts upon the abdominal muscles and permits of a painless parturition.

born here or born abroad. It has proved very difficult to secure from Russia the right for our Jewish fellow citizen to receive passports and travel through Russian territory. It is a wrong against which we are entitled to protest to refuse him his passport without regard to his conduct and character, merely on racial and religious grounds.

The Navy.

The strong arm of the government in enforcing respect for its just rights in international matters is the navy of the United States. I most earnestly recommend that there be no halt in the work of upbuilding the American navy. We have undertaken to build the isthmian canal. We have undertaken to secure for ourselves our just share in the trade of the orient. We have undertaken to protect our citizens from improper treatment in foreign lands. We continue steadily to insist on the application of the Monroe doctrine to the western hemisphere. Unless our attitude in these and all similar matters is to be a mere boastful sham we cannot afford to abandon our naval programme. Our voice is now potent for peace and is so potent because we are not afraid of war. But our protestations upon behalf of peace would neither receive nor deserve the slightest attention if we were impotent to make them good.

The Army.

Within the last three years the United States has set an example in disarmament where disarmament was proper. By law our army is fixed at a maximum of 100,000 and a minimum of 60,000 men. When there was insurrection in the Philippines we kept the army at the maximum. Peace came in the Philippines, and now our army has been reduced to the minimum at which it is possible to keep it with due regard to its efficiency. We should be able, in the event of some sudden emergency, to put into the field one first class army corps, which should be, as a whole, at least the equal of any body of troops of like number belonging to any other nation.

Great progress has been made in protecting our coasts by adequate fortifications with sufficient guns. We should, however, pay much more heed than at present to the development of an extensive system of floating mines for use in all our more important harbors. These mines have been proved to be a most formidable safeguard against hostile fleets.

The Philippines.

In the Philippine Islands there has been during the past year a continuation of the steady progress which has obtained ever since our troops definitely got the upper hand of the insurgents. The Philippine people, or, to speak more accurately, the many tribes and even races sundered from one another more or less sharply who go to make up the people of the Philippine Islands, contain many elements of good, and some elements which we have a right to hope stand for progress. At present they are utterly incapable of existing in independence at all or of building up a civilization of their own. I firmly believe that we can help them to rise higher and higher in the scale of civilization and of capacity for self government, and I most earnestly hope that in the end they will be able to stand, if not entirely alone, yet in some such relation to the United States as Cuba now stands. This end is not yet in sight, and it may be indefinitely postponed if our people are foolish enough to turn the attention of the Philippines away from the problems of achieving moral and material prosperity, of working for a stable, orderly and just government, and toward foolish and dangerous intrigues for a complete independence for which they are as yet totally unfit.

On the other hand, our people must keep steadily before their minds the fact that the justification for our stay in the Philippines must ultimately rest chiefly upon the good we are able to do in the islands. I do not overlook the fact that in the development of our interests in the Pacific ocean and along its coasts the Philippines have played and will play an important part and that our interests have been served in more than one way by the possession of the islands. But our chief reason for continuing to hold them must be that we ought in good faith to try to do our share of the world's work, and this particular piece of work has been imposed upon us by the results of the war with Spain. We are endeavoring to develop the natives themselves so that they shall take an ever increasing share in their own government, and, as far as is prudent, we are already admitting their representatives to a governmental equality with our own. There are commissioners, judges and governors in the islands who are Filipinos and who have exactly the same share in the government of the islands as have their colleagues who are Americans, while in the lower ranks, of course, the great majority of the public servants are Filipinos. Within two years we shall be trying the experiment of an elective legislature in the Philippine legislature. If the Filipinos act with wisdom and self restraint, if they show that they are capable of electing a legislature which in its turn is capable of taking a sane and efficient part in the actual work of government, they can rest assured that a full and increasing measure of recognition will be given them.

Every measure taken concerning the islands should be taken primarily with a view to their advantage. We should certainly give them lower tariff rates for their exports to the United States. If this is not done it will be a wrong to extend our shipping laws to them. I earnestly hope for the immediate enactment into law of the legislation now pending to encourage American capital to seek investment in the islands in railroads, in factories, in plantations and in lumbering and mining.

Approved by the Mayor November 29, 1904.

AMUSEMENTS

A notable feature in the production of "The Maid and the Mummy," Richard Carle's and Robert Hood Bowers' merry musical melange is the large and well-drilled chorus. This arm of the organization numbers sixty-two, being made up principally of extremely fetching fancies of fair femininity. From a scenic and costume standpoint

MRS. ANNIE YEAMANS.

"The Maid and the Mummy" is most elaborately mounted, the lines are extremely bright, the situations most laughable, and the music of the catchy, tinkling variety now-a-days so popular with the masses of theatre goers. The cast is identical with that which presented "The Maid and the Mummy" during its long and successful run at the New York Theatre, New York. "The Maid and the Mummy" is presented under the direction of the Richard Carle Amusement company at the Auditorium tonight.

CONWELL LECTURE THURSDAY.

Russell H. Conwell, who will deliver his great lecture on "Calvary" in Taylor Hall next Thursday evening, is not only one of the few really great orators in America today, but is equally eminent as preacher, author and philanthropist. As preacher he presides over The Temple, the largest Protestant congregation in America; as author he has written nineteen books, a number of which have had a sale of over 200,000; and as philanthropist is founder and president of Temple college, with its 8,000 students; founder and promoter of Samaritan Hospital, healing twelve hundred people a month, and founder and overseer of a large orphanage.

He has been on the lecture platform thirty-seven years and during that time has averaged two hundred lectures a year. A record unequalled by any living man.

Newark people should not miss hearing him Thursday night. The admission price, including reserved seats, is fifty cents. Seats may be reserved at any time at the Y. M. C. A. office.

THE HOOSIER GIRL.

A production of unusual excellence and magnitude will be given at the Auditorium next Saturday. Dave B. Lewis' superb rural comedy, "The Hoosier Girl," with the much talked of artist, Miss Kate Watson, in the title role, deals largely with the mannerisms, habits, actions and customs of the natives of good old "Hoosier State," Indiana, but it presents an abundance of effects that are daring and thrilling in their magnitude and admirable in their executions. Beautiful scenery that correctly depicts the surroundings of the "Hoosier Girl" adds heaps toward making this comedy the people's favorite, a big box office winner, and the charming specialties that are interlarded throughout the evening will simply make you forget your troubles for at least two hours and a half. Matinee and night.

UNDER SOUTHERN SKIES.

This attraction, pretty in romance and dramatic in climaxes, will be seen in Newark soon.

ALL NEXT WEEK.

The Howard Dorset company will open a week's engagement at the Auditorium, December 12, "The Plunger" will be the opening bill. Popular prices prevail, 10, 20 and 30. See notice tomorrow.

I CAN'T GET OUT

John Drumm Has Resigned Time and Again, But Still He Remains in Office.

Thornville (Beech Woods), Ohio, Dec. 6.—Contrary to the usual order of things in the man seeking the office, John Drumm, road supervisor, has written out his resignation time after time in the past few years, but without avail. He was elected about ten years ago. No one will have the office, which pays a reasonable amount. The incumbent is compelled under the law to keep the office until a new supervisor is found. Mr. Drumm is beginning to fear that he may die supervisor, though he lived to be a centenarian.

CONDUCTOR

FELL FROM TRAIN TODAY AND WAS KILLED

Andy Whistler, Panhandle Local Conductor, Met Death at Dennison This Morning.

Andy Whistler, a well known Panhandle conductor, was instantly killed in the yards at Dennison at an early hour this morning. He was crossing one of the tracks when a light engine struck him. He was knocked down in front of the engine, the wheels of which passed over him, cutting his body in two. Whistler's run was between Dennison and Columbus and he was well known by many Newark railroad men.

STOLEN HORSES RETURNED TO OWNERS

All the horses and buggies that were recently stolen by Reynolds and Doty, the two inmates of the Columbus insane asylum during their wild jaunt through the country have been recovered and returned to their owners. The two men started out on their trips by stealing a horse and buggy belonging to Albert Miller of Broad street, Columbus. They traded this rig to a man named Kirk, who resides four miles northwest of Newark, for a blind horse and then drove to Johnstown and stole a horse belonging to Obit Cook, leaving the blind horse in its place. The horse and buggy that was stolen from Cook was recovered by Chief Sheridan and Officer Zergiebel. The horse and buggy stolen from Samuel Taylor of Luray, O., was recovered by Chief Sheridan at Chicago Junction, and this morning Chief Sheridan recovered the Miller rig from George Kirk and returned it to its owner. This was pretty good work.

Mrs. Haskell, Worthy Vice Templar, Independent Order Good Templars, of Silver Lake, Mass., tells of her cure by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: Four years ago I was nearly dead with inflammation and ulceration. I endured daily untold agony, and life was a burden to me. I had used medicines and washes internally and externally until I made up my mind that there was no relief for me. Calling at the home of a friend, I noticed a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My friend endorsed it highly and I decided to give it a trial to see if it would help me. It took patience and perseverance for I was in bad condition, and I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nearly five months before I was cured, but what a change, from despair to happiness, from misery to the delightful exhilarating feeling health always brings. I would not change back for a thousand dollars, and your Vegetable Compound is a grand medicine."

"I wish every sick woman would try it and be convinced."—Mrs. IDA HASKELL, Silver Lake, Mass. Worthy Vice Templar, Independent Order of Good Templars.

When a medicine has been successful in more than a million cases, is it justice to yourself to say, without trying it, "I do not believe it would help me?"

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak, and sick and discouraged, exhausted with each day's work. You have some derangement of the feminine organism, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you just as surely as it has others.

Mrs. Tillie Hart, of Larimore, N. D., says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: I might have been spared many months of suffering and pain if I had known of the efficacy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a few months sooner. For I tried many remedies without finding anything which helped me before I tried the Vegetable Compound. I dreaded the approach of the menstrual period every month, as it meant much suffering and pain. Some months the flow was very scanty and others it was profuse, but after I had used the Compound for two months I became regular and natural, and so I continued until I felt perfectly well, and the parts were strengthened to perform the work without assistance and pain. I am like a different woman now, where before I did not care to live, and I am pleased to testify as to the good your Vegetable Compound has done for me." Sincerely yours, Mrs. TILLIE HART, Larimore, N. D.

Be it, therefore, believed by all women who are ill that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine they should take. It has stood the test of time, and it has hundreds of thousands of cures to its credit. Women should consider it unwise to use any other medicine.

Mrs. Pinkham, whose address is Lynn, Mass., will answer cheerfully and without cost all letters addressed to her by sick women. Perhaps she has just the knowledge that will help your case—try her to-day—it costs nothing.

One Chicago specialist did not want my case at all. After four treatments from Prof. Carpenter the rheumatism entirely disappeared, and in two weeks my heart scarcely bothered me at all. MAYOR CRILLY Suggests Appointment of Committee of Leading Citizens to Report on Water Works.

Gentlemen—Whereas Council has pending before it a proposition of the Newark, Ohio, Water company, a motion to appoint an appraiser to act for the city in determining the value of said company's plant, also an ordinance to appropriate $500 to pay for the services of said appraiser:

Therefore I respectfully recommend the City Council to appoint the following committee of eminent citizens and heavy taxpayers of this city, to-wit: Messrs. A. H. Heisey, W. W. Wehrle, Julius J. D. McNamar, George B. Sprague and E. L. Weisgerber, to whom shall be referred the report of the said appraisers, and that they be requested to report to Council:

1. Whether in their judgment it will be to the best interest of the city to purchase the plant of the Newark, Ohio, Water company, and.
2. If the city should purchase said plant whether the price fixed by the appraisers is a fair and reasonable price to be paid for the same by the city, and.
3. If in the judgment of said committee the price fixed by the appraisers is too large, what in their judgment, will be a fair and reasonable price for the city to pay, looking solely to the best interest of the city.

Respectfully submitted,

WOMAN A MYSTERY

A Few Facts About Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick the Famous Cleveland Woman Who Is Now Prominent in the Public Eye.

At the Holland House in New York is a gray-haired woman of about 59 who is the central figure in a remarkable series of financial operations. She is Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick of Cleveland, O.

Last week one Ohio bank closed its doors as a result of its transactions with her and its president and cashier were arrested Monday at Oberlin, Ohio. The president had made loans to her amounting to nearly $250,000 on the security of two mysterious notes, the names of whose signers he is under a pledge to the woman never to reveal. Yesterday's Advocate dispatches said these notes are signed "Andrew Carnegie."

Another banking institution in Cleveland, with which the woman had done business, has had to take the precaution of enforcing the rule requiring 60 days' notice of withdrawals of money by its depositors. From various parts of the country, says the New York Sun, have come stories of other loans running into the hundreds of thousands, made by wealthy men to this woman either on notes whose value they did not investigate closely, or on no security at all except the woman's statement that she possessed a fortune of $5,000,000 held by her trustee in Cleveland.

Claims aggregating $1,000,000 have been filed against her in one place or another. The Federal court in Ohio has stepped in and appointed a receiver for her alleged securities, and now beginning criminal proceedings.

While all this has been going on Mrs. Chadwick has continued to live at one of the most fashionable hotels in New York, and the management has done everything possible to protect her from the annoyances which are the inevitable result of the notoriety suddenly thrust upon her. She has remained practically silent regarding the charges made against her, and all her lawyers have said for her that she is the victim of a cruel mistake.

A month ago Mrs. Chadwick was regarded in Cleveland as a woman of wealth. She was one of the city's well known charity workers. There was nothing to indicate that her past had been anything but commonplace.

She was prominent socially. Last winter she took a party of friends to New York to hear "Parsifal," chartering a private car for the trip. She maintained a handsomely equipped establishment on Euclid avenue.

Inquiries about Mrs. Chadwick's past have been unanswered. Where she got the fortune of $5,000,000 alleged to exist in Cleveland is still a mystery. No explanation is given of why her husband, supposed to be a physician of Cleveland, has not come to the assistance of his wife. He is somewhere in Europe traveling, they say.

Cleveland apparently has known Mrs. Chadwick for about seven years, since she married Dr. Le Roy Chadwick. At that time Dr. Chadwick was a widower. He had a small practice and was not prominent.

It was not until they moved in a large house on Euclid avenue and began to show evidences of wealth that Cleveland began to hear about the couple. The people heard and saw enough to convince them that Dr. Chadwick had married a wealthy woman, and that the Chadwicks ought to be rated among the city's wealthiest citizens.

Stories of Mrs. Chadwick which have come from Cleveland show that she spent money extravagantly. The Chadwick home has been described as being furnished magnificently. Entertainments were given at her home costing thousands of dollars. The stores devoted to the sales of luxuries of all kinds knew Mrs. Chadwick as one of their largest customers, and she always paid cash.

Each year Mrs. Chadwick went to Europe. Once, it is related, she took along a party of young girls, paying all their expenses, and she presented to each a gold framed miniature on their return.

Another time she made presents of grand pianos to eight or ten of her friends. A sealskin coat was none too good for her cook.

Mrs. Chadwick and her husband made occasional visits to New York. They had handsome apartments at the Essex, and later at the Holland House. When there Mrs. Chadwick spent money with as free a hand as in Cleveland.

She has, had, it is reported, accounts in various banks and trust companies. Her New York doings gave greater confidence to folks in Cleveland. By those who have come in contact with her Mrs. Chadwick was regarded as a woman worth millions.

Mrs. Chadwick has been at the Holland House for a month. Whether she intends to return to Cleveland is not known. Her two lawyers apparently do not know what her plans are from one day to another.

Guests of the Holland House now and then see this middle-aged woman. She lives quietly, and seemingly possesses all the money she needs.

She is seemingly regarded as a desirable guest. The hotel managers are careful to see that she isn't annoyed. The other day they ejected a guest from his room because they learned he had gone to the hotel to spy upon Mrs. Chadwick.
